

Tulsa Kids Benefit from Health Fair

By LOUANN BUHLINGER
GasserOnline Correspondent

Rotarians and other civic volunteers came together to operate the Family Fun Fair and Immunization Clinic, Saturday, April 24. The event, held at Christview Christian Church at 25th and Garnett, attracted hundreds of families.

Activities included "Safe Kids" car seat checks, bike rodeo, fire safety training, face painting clowns and door prizes. The event featured free vision, dental, hearing, developmental and speech screenings as well as immunizations.

Rotarians manned the welcome desks, information center, shuttle and immunization clinic. You could spot us by the red t-shirts we were wearing. All had a good time and helped to make the free Family Fun Fair a success.

The event was sponsored by Rotary, Tulsa Tech, Tulsa Health Department, Tulsa Area Immunization Coalition, Oklahoma's Care Van, Early Childhood Association of Oklahoma, Safe Kids, Oklahoma DHS and the child Care Resource Center.

Harry Livingston was this year's project chairman.

Posted Wednesday, May 26, 2010

Erik Ortega and daughter help families with questions at the annual Family Fun Fair and Immunization Clinic.

Kids came in for immunizations while parents watched at the Family Fun Fair and immunization clinic

Tim Caldwell helped guide families through to the Immunization Clinic at the Family Fun Fair.

Louann Buhlinger and Don Rubottom welcome guests to the Family Fun Fair and Immunization Clinic.